IN THE GARDEN WITH
Baylor Chapman, author and founder of Lila B. Design in San Francisco.

PERSONAL STYLE Accessible "organic elegance" with local seasonal plants and repurposed vessels.

EVERY ROOM NEEDS
"A form of life." A mini azalea nestled in a pottery bowl, below, or "even a simple reminder of nature—a botanical print, a leaf, a dried seedpod."

Create aah-so-simple spring centerpieces with early bloomers and unexpected containers.

BOX
A flea market find

Jewels of another kind fill this cedar chest. Baylor lines the box with plastic wrap, then drops in 4-inch pots of budded irises and mosses.

BOX STARS
Use fillers like spikemoss as the supporting cast for seasonal flowers. After blooms fade, foliage carries on this trunk show.
